

Free Food Vendor Consultations

Are you interested in or have questions about obtaining a health permit to sell food to the public?

The California Health and Safety Code requires that all businesses that sell/vend food to the public obtain a health permit. A health permit and approval to operate must be obtained from Environmental Health Services (EHS) prior to beginning operations.

We are here to help you!

If you need guidance on obtaining a health permit, our team is offering in-office consultations. Consultations are provided in English and Spanish, and the initial consultation is free!

Appointments are limited and available on first come, first serve basis.

Appointments are going fast! Call us at (800) 442-2283 to book your appointment or visit: bit.ly/FVBook
